

Aloe 'Bush Baby Yellow'

Size: Small, Colour: Yellow, Flower time: Late Summer to Winter, Stem: Bush, Frost tolerance: Low.

This is a slightly larger plant which produces a long-lasting supply of beautiful yellow flowers.

The plant itself is a striking green with well-structured rosettes. It will also bush (produce multiple rosettes). A mature plant is capable of flowering for 6 months without a break in flower production. This characteristic places it in the "Superior Hybrid" category, and makes it a sought after landscaping subject, for group or border plantings. 'Bush Baby Yellow' does equally well as a container subject or when planted in an open garden.
